BALLOONS & OUR ENVIRONMENT

The City of Novato strongly discourages the use of balloons at all City facilities. As such, the City believes each one of us has the power to make changes in our daily lives that will have a positive impact on our environment and prevent the continued acceleration of climate change. Living sustainability isn't about 'going without', it's about living smarter, embracing healthy solutions, and using resources wisely. Novato Parks, Recreation, and Community Services would like to suggest sustainable alternatives to balloons for our community to consider when hosting events at our facilities.

Balloons can be a fun, easy way to create a festive atmosphere, but they are also harmful to wildlife and our environment. Most balloons are made of either latex (a type of rubber), or mylar (a type of plastic). While rubber is a natural material, latex balloons also contain plasticizers – synthetic and chemical compounds which make natural rubber softer and more durable.

Neither latex nor mylar balloons are biodegradable and when they end up in the environment, they break down into smaller and smaller pieces over many years. These microplastics pollute our soil, creeks, and the ocean.

Ocean Life

When balloons start to break down in the ocean, marine animals often mistake the balloon for a food source. Balloons are one of the deadliest forms of marine debris to seabirds.

Safety Hazard

Mylar balloons are also a safety hazard when they come in contact with, or come close to, high-voltage power lines. The electricity between two lines can arc when the conductive material from Mylar balloons becomes tangled in the lines, causing power outages, explosions, downed power lines, and damaged infrastructure.

State Laws

Currently, state law prohibits the release of Mylar balloons into the air (California Penal Code Section 653.1) and requires that an object of sufficient weight be attached to each balloon at the time of sale or distribution to counter the lift capability of the balloon.

REUSABLE ALTERNATIVES TO BALLOONS

There are plenty of creative, reusable, and environmentally-friendly alternatives to balloons, and below are some suggestions to make your next celebration at one of our indoor or outdoor facilities, a more sustainable occasion. As an added bonus, some of these decorations can be used year after year and even passed down through generations.

- paper or fabric chains
- floral arches
- paper or yarn pompoms
- pinwheels
- bubbles
- paper or fabric banners
